Kevin Concannon, Director, Department of Human Services
Gary Maynard, Director, Department of Corrections

At the June 21, 2005, Government Oversight Committee meeting, a discussion arose regarding the abuse incident at the Woodward Resource Center. Before deciding whether to include this incident as an agenda item for one of the upcoming meetings, the Committee requested that the Departments respond to a few questions.

- How long had inmates been working at Woodward prior to the incident?
- What screening process is used to determine which prisoners were assigned to the work detail at Woodward?
- Why was the decision made to allow prisoners to work in a situation where extremely vulnerable Iowans were living?
- Why can State agencies decide to supervise prisoners on work details when those prisoners are the responsibility of the Department of Corrections?
- Are prisoners working at Glenwood Resource Center? If so, how are they supervised?
- How did the prisoner gain access to a patient at Woodward? What was the level of supervision that was taking place?
- What jobs were the prisoners doing for Woodward?

Please provide a written response by July 10 to Douglas Wulf, Legislative Services Agency, who will forward it to all Committee Members.

We appreciate your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Sen. Tom Courtney, Co-Chair, Sen. Ron Wieck, Co-Chair, and Rep. Dwayne Alons, Co-Chair.

Re: Incident at Woodward Resource Center

Dear Mr. Wulf,

The Department of Corrections appreciates the opportunity to provide clarifying information to the Government Oversight Committee members related to an incident that occurred at the Woodward Resource Center.

1. How long had inmates been working at Woodward prior to the incident?

Offenders have been working at the Woodward Resource Center for approximately three (3) years.

2. What screening process is used to determine which prisoners were assigned to the work detail at Woodward?

The North Central Correctional Facility (NCCF), a low risk offender prison, has the largest number of offenders working outside the facility's secured perimeter of any prison. By policy, offenders must meet certain criteria to qualify for minimum-outs work. This policy and related criteria is established by the Department of Corrections and NCCF. At NCCF, the offenders meet with a classification committee that is chaired by the Deputy Warden and typically includes the Nurse Manager, a Captain, and a counselor. The offender is evaluated by need and criteria to determine if the offender is qualified. If the offender is qualified, NCCF has three levels of minimum outs:

- a. The most secure level is those offenders assigned to work outside the secure perimeter of the facility, but on institutional grounds supervised by the Correctional Trades Leaders.

The mission of the Iowa Department of Corrections is to:
Protect the Public, the Employees, and the Offenders

- b. The next level of supervision is to work off state grounds but under the supervision a correctional employee, most typically an officer.
 - c. The least restrictive level is the ability to work off state grounds under the supervision of a private-citizen that has been trained by the North Central Correctional Facility. This is the level that Cecil Smith was working at Woodward.
3. Why was the decision made to allow prisoners to work in a situation where extremely vulnerable Iowans were living?

Offenders work at a variety of locations throughout the State. They work at state agencies, county courthouses, State Capitol, in cities, at non-profits, and for schools. Each time an agency requests offenders to work at their location, staff from the respective facility tours the agency and discusses the type of work, the level of supervision, and the risk involved. If the location meets our standards or criteria, then we begin the process of training the staff at that agency. We personally monitor the operation quarterly, and we visit regularly with the agencies to remain proactive in keeping issues to a minimum. Woodward met those standards as they did not allow the offenders to work with the mentally challenged individuals and they were not to be around the mentally challenged individuals without immediate supervision.

4. Why can State agencies decide to supervise prisoners on work details when those prisoners are the responsibility of the Department of Corrections?

Iowa Code section 904.703 provides for inmates to work in the maintenance of state institutions such as Woodward pursuant to an Iowa Code chapter 28E Agreement. Iowa Code section 904.703 also allows agencies to agree, pursuant to a 28E Agreement, on which entity provides for the supervision, security, transportation, and allowance paid to inmates. The Department of Corrections provides on-site training to agency staff on how to properly supervise and monitor inmates.

5. Are prisoners working at Glenwood Resource Center? If so, how are they supervised?

Inmates are not working at the Glenwood Resource Center.

6. How did the prisoner gain access to a patient at Woodward? What was the level of supervision that was taking place?

Cecil Smith was being directly supervised by an employee of Woodward. Each offender must be physically observed at least every thirty minutes by Woodward and NCCF procedures and every two hours by DOC policy. Offender Smith was taking a fifteen-minute break and instead of going to the break area went into a building that he was not assigned to work in.

7. What jobs were the prisoners doing for Woodward?

Consistent with Iowa Code section 904.703 allowing inmates to perform maintenance at state institutions, the inmate at Woodward was doing general maintenance duties such as, mowing, weed-eating, moving furniture, painting, small repairs, etc.

Conclusion:

In response to this incident, I had our independent Department of Corrections Inspector General Office conduct an investigation into whether policy and the Code of Iowa were followed. The results of this investigation concluded:

The Department of Corrections Classification Policy was followed, which allowed the placement of this inmate in an off-grounds work assignment at Woodward given his minimum-custody status.

Iowa Code section 904.701 (Hard Labor) requires the DOC to place all eligible inmates in a meaningful work assignment that averages at least 40 hours per week. Iowa Code section 904.703 provides for inmates to work in the maintenance of state institutions such as Woodward pursuant to an Iowa Code 28E Agreement, which was in place between the DOC and DHS. The North Central Correctional Facility staff provided training to DHS staff on working with and supervising inmate workers. This particular inmate had been working at the Woodward Facility for the past 6 months doing maintenance tasks.

Upon notification and learning of this incident, the offender was placed, and currently remains, in Administrative Segregation. The Boone County Sheriff's Office conducted a criminal investigation and referred to the Boone County Attorney for criminal charges. The Boone County Attorney has filed a criminal charge of Sexual Abuse in the Third Degree, which is a class C felony punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

In response to this incident, each correctional facility around the State provided refresher training to constituencies that utilize inmate labor on the duties and responsibilities of supervising inmate workers.

I have taken the liberty of attaching a document outlining the various agencies in Iowa that are currently utilizing inmate workers.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if additional information would be helpful.

Sincerely,
